Walk, Gaze, Share — BE INSPIRED!

The UC San Diego Faculty and Staff Assistance Program (FSAP) is pleased to present a new series exploring the complexities of our human experience through discussion and interaction with various pieces in the Stuart Collection.

Join us and BE INSPIRED!

Come challenge yourself to see this piece and the campus around us in new perspective. We’ll meet at one chosen installation, share our experiences of what it evokes in us or reminds us about life, and enjoy the company of fellow campus community members for an hour.

Since 1981, the Stuart Collection on the UC San Diego campus has expanded our knowledge about and appreciation of art. If you have wanted to introduce yourself to some of the gems in the Stuart Collection or reacquaint yourself with them, join us for our monthly exploration of art and emotion.

The Stuart Collection is an ongoing program commissioning outdoor sculpture for UC San Diego’s 1200-acre campus which asks artists to respond to particular situations within the university and endeavors to integrate their projects with the life and fabric of the campus. For information on the full catalog, including the Asher piece, and a map of the site-specific works, visit http://stuartcollection.ucsd.edu/.

RSVP to ether co-facilitator:
Michelle Brown-Shelton: (858) 534-5509
mbrownshelton@ucsd.edu or
Crystal Green: (858) 534-2387
cegreen@ucsd.edu

Meet us at:
Michael Asher’s granite drinking fountain on the grass island in the center of Myers Drive—across from the Chancellor’s Complex

Free — No artistic knowledge needed to attend!

Bring a friend!

Wednesdays with Stuart

Wednesday

Sept. 25, 2013

4–5 p.m.

“Untitled” (Drinking Fountain)