

CELEBRATING NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

HONORING INDIGENOUS KNOWLEDGE:

TRANS-INDIGENOUS FUTURES

2pm-3:30pm PST

Tuesday, Nov 24th via Zoom

PANEL Q&A

In celebration of Native American Heritage Month, Honoring Indigenous Knowledge: Trans-Indigenous Futures brings together diverse Indigenous voices to discuss how to recognize, honor, and apply ancient Indigenous knowledge to present-day challenges, and how Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples can move forward collectively with integrity.

Panelists will include Assistant Professor Keolu Fox, Kānaka Maoli genetic anthropologist and Director of the Indigenous Futures Lab at UC San Diego; Assistant Professor Jamaica Heolimeleikalani Osorio, Kānaka Maoli poet, artist, and scholar of Indigenous and Native Hawaiian Politics; Punahele, Kānaka Maoli Hip Hop artist and educator, and recipient of the 2019 Nā Hōkū Hanohano Hip Hop Album of The Year Award; and Dr. Stan Rodriguez, Kumeyaay language and culture instructor at Kumeyaay Community College and builder of traditional tule reed boats.
