Dear Vice Chancellor Brown:

I would like to express my gratitude to all of our researchers and staff, including those here today at the Research Administrator Appreciation Day celebration.

As one of the top research institutions in the world, UC San Diego receives more than $1 billion in research funding each year. This is quite impressive and underscores the importance of our research mission at UC San Diego. Our researchers are some of the world's most innovative minds, working diligently to solve our global society's most pressing challenges. We also nurture the budding minds of our students, fostering their academic advancement and excellence.

Our research and success are possible because of you – our research administration staff. It is your commitment to UC San Diego, your expertise, your thoroughness and your attention to detail, that makes UC San Diego a world-class research university.

Thank you for your hard work and impressive efforts, and all that you do for UC San Diego.

With kind regards,
